When Healing Stalls, Risk Accelerates — Often Exponentially

Wounds that fail to progress after 30 days of treatment are considered chronic and are often stuck in the inflammatory phase. They don't just linger – they create a cascade of complications for the patient:

- Infection, sepsis, and possible hospitalization
- Amputation risk – especially in diabetic or vascular patients
- Chronic pain, mobility loss, and higher fall risk
- Emotional effects like depression, isolation, or sleep disturbance
- Increased burden on patients, caregivers and family members

Early referral to advanced wound care providers can prevent this – and this changes everything for the patient.

We Do One Thing Well Expert Care for Complex Wounds

- Diabetic ulcers
- Pressure injuries
- Non-healing surgical sites
- Venous and arterial leg ulcers
- Atypical or trauma-related wounds

How We Treat Beyond the Basics

We use biological grafts and amniotic membranes, to stimulate the body's natural repair systems, restoring healthy skin layers – fixing the root problem. Customized treatment protocols for complex or atypical wounds to help heal the patient through the following:

Advanced Dressings & Topicals

We select from various evidence-based dressings – antimicrobial, absorbent, enzymatic, or moisture-retentive – to match the wound's stage and type. The goal: create an ideal healing environment while minimizing infection risk.

Debridement (Tissue Removal)

We perform sharp, enzymatic, or autolytic debridement to remove necrotic or biofilm-laden tissue, restart stalled healing, and reduce bacterial load.

Compression Therapy

We use multilayer compression for venous and lymphatic wounds to restore proper circulation, control edema, and support tissue oxygenation – critical for sustained healing.

Bioengineered Skin Substitutes

We apply amniotic membranes, cellular/tissue-based products (CTPs), and other advanced biologics to support dermal regeneration – often in cases where the wound has failed standard care.

What You Can Expect From Us

A Seamless, Patient-Centered Extension of Care for Patients with Chronic Wounds

We provide concierge level mobile wound care in the comfort of the patient's home or a conveniently located clinic, while keeping the physician of record, family member or home health provider informed at every stage of treatment. Our process is designed to remove the administrative burden from your office and reduce risk for the patients quickly and efficiently.

Here's what we handle:

1. We Complete All Pre-Authorizations —
Including Medicare and some commercial insurance approvals – no extra paperwork for your staff.
2. We Perform a Full Wound Assessment —
In the patient's home, retirement living, or in clinic – wherever the patient is most comfortable being treated.
3. We Review the Patient's Chart & History —
Ensuring that all conservative measures have been met prior to applying biological grafts or initiating advanced therapies.
4. We Bill the Insurance Directly —
Including documentation, wound logs, and follow-ups as required.

Throughout the healing process, we keep the patient, physician, and caregiver in the loop with concise clinical updates – so you always know how the patient is progressing.
